Join us for a chat with Stephanie Griego, the owner of Dirty Water Dyeworks in Watertown, MA.

Dirty Water DyeWorks has been offering hand-dyed yarn for over twelve years. They also feature knitting kits and yarn bundles. You can find Dirty Water Dyeworks at a variety of fiber events throughout New England and New York. If you've ever visited their booth, you'll notice that they have many samples on display. It's one of the ways they offer ideas and inspiration to their customers. You also might see their yarn in your local shop. Dirty Water Dyeworks wholesales their products to various yarn stores across the country.
